About campusM

campusM is a mobile and portal solution that delivers personalized campus services to various users including prospective students, students, faculty and staff, and alumni as well as members of the public.

The campusM platform is based on a true cloud-based multi-tenant SaaS; it has a very secure and reliable infrastructure and is hosted in the most dependable data centers. campusM is used as a digital consolidation tool used to connect numerous disparate apps as well as multiple systems and tie into a single app where each person sees exactly what they need. These include SIS, LMS, ILS, CRM and HR ERP systems among others. The app and portal is uniquely personalized for each user based on profiles, roles and preferences, to deliver up-to-date relevant information available at a glance in a tile-based dashboard view.

In addition, campusM offers iBeacons for attendance monitoring and/or touchpoint actions, and push notifications for mass or individualized communications. The solution can be extended using the App Extension Kit to create any new functionality, which you can choose to share with other institutions as part of a global registry.

The typical implementation time is 12 weeks and is accompanied by a detailed step by step project plan based on the requirements. Ex Libris has had a 100% on time deployment record for more than 30 years.
